

Conducting Effective Performance Reviews

The School of Leadership

Performance reviews are an essential component of employee development. Someone once said, "If you always do what you've always done, you'll always get what you've always got." And, remember what the German philosopher Goethe said: "Treat people as if they were what they ought to be and you help them become what they are capable of being." Setting goals and objectives to aim for will give supervisors and employees a unified focus and targets to aim for. Supervisors must also learn how to give feedback, both positive and negative, on a regular and timely basis so that employees can grow and develop. Performance appraisals involve all these activities.

How You Will Benefit

- Recognize the importance of having a performance appraisal process for employees.
- Understand how to work with employees to set performance standards and goals.
- Develop skills in observing and giving feedback, listening and asking questions, for improved performance.
- Identify an effective interview process and have the opportunity to practice the Process in a supportive atmosphere.
- Develop strategies for managing employee performance.

What You Will Cover

- The importance of performance appraisals.
- How to avoid stereotyping
- Developing standards and goals
- Documenting performance
- Performance feedback and coaching
- Developing an interview format
- The appraisal as a two-way process
- Managing employee performance
- How to fire someone
- Accepting criticism

What's Included?

- Instruction by an expert facilitator
- Small interactive classes
- Specialized manual and course materials
- Personalized certificate of completion

One day workshop

